

Answers—Worksheet One

- What sort of career do you think a soul such as this one would be drawn to?
- What is this person's underlying motivation in the area of work?
- Does this person have a wide variety of gifts, or do the gifts tend to go all in one direction?
- Are there any gifts that seem not to fit in with the others?

SOUL GROUP: Alpha Centaurian

AA REALM: 6th

ARCHETYPES: analyser, maximizing systems, catalyst for change, problem solver, competitor

RELEVANT SOUL TRAININGS: Master of Design (structural specialist)

Answers:

For this soul, the 'left brain' gifts predominate. By 'left brain' I mean those gifts that allow us to strategise, plan, organise, classify and solve problems; the right brain is associated more with intuition, language and creativity.

Here is the evidence for this:

1. This soul belongs to the Alpha Centaurian soul group

Alpha Centaurs have very strong analytical skills and are good problem solvers.

This person has the 'analyser', 'problem-solver' and 'maximizing systems' archetypes too, which all serve to reinforce the gifts that come from the Alpha Centaurian soul group of origin. In addition, the presence of the Master of Design (structural specialist) soul training demonstrates an affinity with systems.

It is almost certain that this person would be in her element working with a system of some kind — such as an IT system, or possibly in engineering or science. On top of this, the Alpha Centaurs have a special connection with technology, so it would not be surprising if this is a person who chooses to work with computers, perhaps in a role which allows them to make improvements to a system, or solve problems within a system.

It is unlikely that such a person would be found working in a creative field or in a helping/caring profession. There aren't enough gifts that support such a direction.

What motivates this person?

We can look to the Archangelic realm to see what would motivate this person on a deeper level in her work.

This person is motivated by a search for clarity and truth. This is a person who can see through half-truths and lies. There is also an urge to protect (borne out by both the Archangelic realm of training and the soul group of origin.)

Remember that the Archangelic realm of training governs the approach we bring to our work and what motivates us. It can govern the choice of organisation or company that the person chooses to work within. Broadly speaking, it encapsulates the message the person brings to the world.

A client with the sixth archangelic realm of training might choose to work within an organization that brings truth and clarity to the world. This is just one possibility based on the client's soul profile. It's difficult to get specifics when this is a made up person who does not have a Spirit Guide team that we can tune into, or a photo for us to tune into (since that is how we get more specifics.)

In the beginning, you will need to analyse a person's gifts in this very systematic and methodical way. It may seem long-winded and possibly a little tedious to you, yet the more you do it, the easier it becomes, and before you know it, you will be analysing the person's soul profile without needing to be so systematic — you will just do it unconsciously. You will see a soul profile, and the information about careers and work will just come to you.

In the meantime to build your skill in this area, please complete the next worksheet...Practice makes perfect!